Introduction

A community Service project is a term applied to any community-based project. This covers a wide variety of different areas within a community or a group of networking entities. Projects can cover almost anything, including the most obvious section of concern to any community, the welfare element. Welfare community projects would for example be, a locally run and locally funded orphanage;. Another important sector of importance to the community would be charity. Charitable projects in the community can include, but are not limited to, ecological charities concerned with either the maintenance of green spaces, or in some cases, the prevention of the reduction/removal of green spaces. An old clothes collection service would also be a community-based charity project.

It begins when a small collection of motivated individuals within a community come together with a shared concern: how can our community respond to the challenges, opportunities, and climate change.

Scope and size

All community service projects are different in some way; the size and scope of these projects is determined firstly by the community they cater to.

According to the definition of a community, a community could be the entire human race or parts of it anywhere on the planet. However, because of phenomena like distance decay or demographic factors such as age group, gender and income that determine social identity of groups, the extent of community-based projects is usually much more limited.

A .About the Village / Habitation

Bheemunipatnam (also known as Bheemilli), is a suburb of Visakhapatnam, India. The town was named after Bhima, a character in the Hindu epic Mahabharata. It formerly administered under the Bheemunipatnam municipality, but merged into GVMC in 2017. It is currently under the administration of Bheemunipatnam revenue division and the headquarters is located at Bheemunipatnam.

Geography

Bheemunipatnam is located about 40 km from Visakhapatnam Airport, about 31 km from Visakhapatnam railway station and 29 km from Visakhapatnam city central bus station. It lies to the north of Visakhapatnam City and is loosely bordered by Rushikonda to the south and Bay of Bengal to the east, Madhurawada to the west, Bhogapuram to the north.

History

Buddhism

Buddha Statue at Bheemunipatnam Beach Road

Historical evidences of Buddhist Culture have been noticed at Bheemunipatnam dating back to 3rd century BCE on the hillock Pavurallakonda (also known as Narsimhaswami Konda locally) in the town. Buddhist remains were found during the excavations here along with Relic caskets. Both the schools of Buddhism Hinayana and Mahayana were propagated in this land and also to the far east lands from the port of River Gosthani. See pavurallakonda page for more details.

Narasimha temple

There is a Hindu temple dedicated to Lord Narasimha on the eastern side of Pavurallakonda facing the sea. As per the historical evidences the temple is constructed around 14th century by Mindi^[5] Kings. There are two more temples in the town of Bhimili, which date back to the times of Chola's as Bheemeswaralayam and Choleswaralayam.

Dutch settlements

A Dutch map of Bheemunipatnam by Coenraad Pieter Keller with the projected new fort from 1756.

Known to the Dutch as Bimilipatnam, Bheemunipatnam was one among the major Dutch settlements of the Dutch Coromandel coast in the 17th century. There are remnants of the Dutch East India Company trading post when the town was a port. The town contains one of the oldest Christian cemeteries on the coast. Bhimili also had a currency mint during the times of Dutch. Portuguese also visited Bhimili in the same time as the Dutch. St. Peter's church is a historical monument which signifies the ancient architecture.

After Bheemunipatnam was plundered by Maratha troops in 1754, the local regent permitted the Dutch East India Company to construct a fort in the village, for which military engineer Coenraad Pieter Keller drew up plans. The fort that was constructed subsequently collapsed twice, for which Keller had to defend himself in front of his superiors in Batavia.

East India Company

The British East India Company made Bheemunipatnam their main trading base of the east coast. The Bhimili port used to operate passenger vessels to Madras and Calcutta during the British Raj. The big clock tower in the town was built by the British.

Bheemunipatnam Port Trust

Bheemunipatnam (Bheemili) was one of ancient Dutch harbour Town. European merchants disembarked from the ships and made it their port. It was a Major port and Europeans resided here during East India Company regime. Until 1958, huge ships from Malaysia and Singapore arrived at this port. Perfumes, textiles etc were exported to other countries from here. There was a huge coco plantation spread across the local beaches that were also exported. Bheemunipatnam Port Trust was closed during British rule in India to Develop Visakhapatnam Port Trust and avoid other invaders entering the country. However, the lighthouse constructed by the British at Bheemunipatnam port stands as a witness to the European regime. Now a days Andhra Pradesh Government Wants to open the port again.

Demographics

According to Imperial Gazetteer of India, It was entirely Zamindari land belonging to the Vizianagram estate. As of 2001 India census, it had a population of 44,156. Males constitute 49% of the population and females 51%. Bheemunipatnam has an average literacy rate of 60%, higher than the national average of 59.5%; with male literacy of 67% and female literacy of 54%. 11% of the population is under 6 years of age.

Landmarks

Panoramic view of River Gosthani confluence into Bay of Bengal at Bhimili

The lighthouse dated to 1868 was built during Dutch settlement on the shores of Bheemili Beach. Some of the Buddhist sites are Bojjannakonda, Bavikonda, Lingalakonda, Pavurallakonda, Salihundam and Thotlakonda.

Vidhan Sabha Bheemili

Lok Sabha constituency Visakhapatnam

Bheemunipatnam , ward no-3 in Bheemunipatnam Municipality is situated corner of the Visakhapatnam City about 24kilometers. to the north of the city of Visakhapatnam.. The nearest railway station is at Pendurthi about 20 miles. There are two approaches to the village viz. (i) via Beach road or (ii) High way NH 16 (two comparatively bigger villages situated at a distance of one mile north and 1 miles east of the village respectively).

. It is also under the jurisdiction of Bheemunipatnam police station. Bheemunipatnam is also the nearest market where the villagers generally sell their produce and purchase tools, implements, seeds and other necessities of life. Again Bheemunipatnam provides the village with its nearest veterinary hospital, primary health centre and post office.

However, in spite of the remoteness of the village, quite a large number of the villagers daily go Bheemunipatnam or Visakhapatnam either for service occupations or other work and thus maintain a consistent contact with the urban life.

The main consideration which guided us in the selection of this village for Socio-Economic study was its physical location i.e. it's being away from the major means of communications.

SOIL

The village has two types of soil viz., sandy and sandy-clay. The former is predominant on the southern and northern side of the village, whereas the latter is found in abundance on the eastern and western sides. Sandy soil is better suited for the cultivation of rice and vegetables .

CLIMATE

The climate of the place is the same as that of Bheemunipatnam GVMS of Visakhapatnam. Summers are rather hot and winters very cold. The weather in winters, however, is usually fine and a shower of rain during the season is welcomed by the agriculturists as it is very beneficial for cultivation. The days in summer are very hot whereas nights are comparatively cooler. The rainy season generally starts in the middle of June and ends in September.

TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATION

The place is situated nine miles away from the National High way 16 viskhpatnam Srikakulam road, it is totally un-connected with the major means of communications. However, from Bheemunipatnam regular and efficient bus services are available for all directions viz. Visakhpatnam, Pendurthi, Srikakulam , Thagarapuvalsa, APRTC. Bus service also runs between Bheemunipatnam and Visakhapatnam every thirty minutes and the villagers generally make use of it.

CREMATORIUM

All the households in the village belong to the Hindu religion and follow the practice of cremating their dead. The only exceptions are children below the age of three years who are buried.

The village crematorium is situated at a distance of about one furlong, to the east of the habit yon. The crematorium for the scheduled castes is located in ward No-3, Bheemunipatnam Municipality.

SOURCES OF WATER

There are in all three drinking water wells in this place. No well is commonly owned except the one which is used by the village people. Out of the other two, one which is situated in the nearby fields.

PROBLEMS IDENTIFIED

Bheemunipatnam , ward no-3 in Bheemunipatnam Municipality is situated corner of the Visakhapatnam City about 24kilometers. to the north of the city of Visakhapatnam.. The nearest railway station is at Pendurthi about 20 miles. There are two approaches to the village viz. (i) via Beach road or (ii) High way NH 16 (two comparatively bigger villages situated at a distance of one mile north and 1 miles east of the village respectively).

. It is also under the jurisdiction of Bheemunipatnam police station. Bheemunipatnam is also the nearest market where the villagers generally sell their produce and purchase tools, implements, seeds and other necessities of life. Again Bheemunipatnam provides the village with its nearest veterinary hospital, primary health centre and post office.

However, in spite of the remoteness of the village, quite a large number of the villagers daily go Bheemnipatnam or Visakhapatnam either for service occupations or other work and thus maintain a consistent contact with the urban life.

The main consideration which guided us in the selection of this village for Socio-Economic study was its physical location i.e. it's being away from the major means of communications.

SOIL

The village has two types of soil viz., sandy and sandy-clay. The former is predominant on the southern and northern side of the village, whereas the latter is found in abundance on the eastern and western sides. Sandy soil is better suited for the cultivation of rice and vegetables .

CLIMATE

The climate of the place is the same as that of Bheemunipatnam GVMS of Visakhapatnam. Summers are rather hot and winters very cold. The weather in winters, however, is usually fine and a shower of rain during the season is welcomed by the agriculturists as it is very beneficial for cultivation. The days in summer are very hot whereas nights are comparatively cooler. The rainy season generally starts in the middle of June and ends in September.

TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATION

The place is situated nine miles away from the National High way 16 viskhpatnam Srikakulam road, it is totally un-connected with the major means of communications. However, from Bheemunipatnam regular and efficient bus services are available for all directions viz. Visakhpatnam, Pendurthi, Srikakulam , Thagarapuvalsa, APRTC. bus service also runs between Bheemunipatnam and Visakhapatnam every thirty minutes and the villagers generally make use of it.

CREMATORIUM

All the households in the village belong to the Hindu religion and follow the practice of cremating their dead. The only exceptions are children below the age of three years who are buried.

The village crematorium is situated at a distance of about one furlong. to the east of the habit yon. The crematorium for the scheduled castes is located in Ward No-3, Bheemunipatnam MUncipality.

SOURCES OF WATER

There are in all three drinking water wells in this place . No well is commonly owned except the one which is used by the village people Out of the other two, one which is situated in the nearby fields.

COMMUNITY AWARENESS PROGRAMMES

- Activities are targeted to include underserved communities and diverse populations in our county. The 24 community awareness activities focus on all our programs and services unless we are asked to speak on individual programs.
- Community networking promotes community awareness of program services and availability by networking with professionals and leaders in the community.
- Developing, building and maintaining Response Teams, which include representatives from victim advocacy, law enforcement, prosecution and healthcare.
- Joining community-based collaborations (e.g., disaster preparedness committees, social service consortiums,)
- Communicating regularly with staff at local social service agencies, hospital emergency room, law enforcement, state attorney, clerk of court and non-certified victim advocates
- Visiting local businesses and dropping off sexual violence materials, event flyers and brochures
- Joining local groups and sharing information
- Collaboration with other agencies

PART B

(Mini Project: Right to Information (RTI))

The Right to Information (RTI) is an act of the Parliament of India which sets out the rules and procedures regarding citizens' right to information. It replaced the former Freedom of Information Act, 2002. Under the provisions of RTI Act, any citizen of India may request information from a "public authority" (a body of Government or "instrumentality of State") which is required to reply expeditiously or within thirty days. In case of matter involving a petitioner's life and liberty, the information has to be provided within 48 hours. The Act also requires every public authority to computerize their records for wide dissemination and to proactively publish certain categories of information so that the citizens need minimum recourse to request for information formally.

The RTI Bill was passed by Parliament of India on 15 June 2005 and came into force with effect from 12 October 2005. Every day on an average, over 4800 RTI applications are filed. In the first ten years of the commencement of the act, over 17,500,000 applications had been filed.

Although Right to Information is not included as a Fundamental Right in the Constitution of India, it protects the fundamental rights to Freedom of Expression and Speech under Article 19(1)(a) and Right to Life and Personal Liberty under Article 21 guaranteed by the Constitution. The authorities under RTI Act 2005 are called public authorities. The Public Information Officer (PIO) or the First Appellate Authority in the public authorities perform quasi judicial function of deciding on the application and appeal respectively. This act was enacted in order to consolidate the fundamental right in the Indian constitution 'freedom of speech'. Since RTI is implicit in the Right to Freedom of Speech and Expression under Article 19 of the Indian Constitution, it is an implied fundamental right.

Information disclosure in India had traditionally been restricted by the Official Secrets Act 1923 and various other special laws, which the new RTI Act overrides.^[3] Right to Information codifies a fundamental right of the citizens of India. RTI has proven to be very useful, but is counteracted by the Whistle Blowers Protection Act, 2011.^[4]

The Right to Information (Amendment) Bill, 2019, seeks to amend Sections 13, 16, and 27 of the RTI Act. Section 13 of the original Act: It sets the term of the central Chief Information Commissioner and Information Commissioners at five years (or until the age of 65, whichever is earlier). Finally in Ashwanee K. Singh's case on 20 September 2020, it is stabilised that right to information is a fundamental right. This Act has been regarded as one of the Top ranking Act across the Globe.

Scope

A receipt for payment of a fee for collecting information under RTI act

The Act extends to the whole of India. It covers all the constitutional authorities, including executive, legislature and judiciary; any institution or body established or constituted by an act of Parliament or a state legislature. It is also defined in the Act that bodies or authorities established or constituted by order or notification of appropriate government including bodies "owned, controlled or substantially financed" by government, or non-Government organizations "substantially financed, directly or indirectly by funds".

Private bodies

Private bodies are not within the act's In a decision of Sarbjit Roy vs Delhi Electricity Regulatory Commission, the Central Information Commission also reaffirmed that privatised public utility companies fall within the purview of RTI. As of 2014, private institutions and NGOs receiving over 95% of their infrastructure funds from the government come under the Act.

Political parties

The Central Information Commission (CIC) held that the political parties are public authorities and are answerable to citizens under the RTI Act. The CIC said that eight national parties - Congress, BJP, NCP, CPI(M), CPI, BSP, NPP and AITC - has been substantially funded indirectly by the Central Government and have the character of public authorities under the RTI Act as they perform public functions. But in August 2013 the government introduced a Right To Information (Amendment) Bill which would remove political parties from the scope of the law. Currently no parties are under the RTI Act and a case has been filed for bringing all political parties under it.

Amendment

The Right to Information Act 2019 passed on July 25, 2019 modified the terms and conditions of service of the CIC and Information Commissioners at the centre and in states. It had been criticized as watering down the independence of the information commissions.

Supreme Court judgement

Supreme Court of India on 13 November 2019, upheld the decision of the Delhi High Court bringing the office of Chief Justice of India under the purview of the Right to Information (RTI) Act.

Governance and process

The Right to information in India is governed by two major bodies:

- Central Information Commission (CIC) – Chief Information commissioner who heads all the central departments and ministries- with their own public Information officers (PIO)s. CICs are directly under the President of India.
- State Information Commissions – State Public Information Officers or SPIOs head over all the state department and ministries. The SPIO office is directly under the corresponding State Governor.

State and Central Information Commissions are independent bodies and Central Information Commission has no jurisdiction over the State Information Commission.

Fees

A citizen who desires to seek some information from a public authority is required to send, along with the application (a Postal order or DD (Demand draft) or a bankers cheque) or a court stamp payable to the Accounts Officer of the public authority as fee prescribed for seeking information. If the person is from a disadvantaged community, he/she need not pay. The applicant may also be required to pay further fee towards the cost of providing the information, details of which shall be intimated to the applicant by the PIO (Public Information Officer) as prescribed by the RTI ACT.

Digital right to information systems

A digital portal has been set up, RTI Portal, a gateway to the citizens for quick search of information on the details of first Appellate Authorities, PIOs etc. amongst others, besides access to RTI related information disclosures published on the web by various Public Authorities under the government of India as well as the State Governments. It is an initiative taken by Department of Personnel and Training, Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances and Pensions.

Controversies

The Right to information in India has been mired with controversies ranging from their use in political battles, asking for educational degrees of political rivals, or cases of blatant refusals to provide information on high-profile projects to allegations of misuse by civil society. The backlash against RTI by the state hampered the citizen's right to know.

Attacks on RTI activists and protection suggestions

Main article: Attacks on RTI activists in India

Commonwealth Human Rights Initiative (CHRI) data points to over 310 cases across India where people were either attacked, physically or mentally harassed or had their property damaged because of the information they sought under RTI. The data throws up over 50 alleged murders and two suicides that were directly linked with RTI applications filed. R.T.I. Act 2005 applies to both central as well as state governments. It also covers the acts and functionaries of the public authorities.

There is a consensus felt that there is a need to amend the RTI Act to provide for the protection of those seeking information under the Act. The Asian Centre for Human Rights recommends that a separate chapter, "Protection of those seeking information under the (RTI) Act", be inserted into the Act.

Protection measures suggested include:

- Mandatory, immediate registration of complaints of threats or attacks against RTI activists on the First Information Report and placing such FIRs before the magistrate or judge of the area within 24 hours for issuance of directions for protection of those under threats and their family members, and periodic review of such protection measures
- Conducting inquiry into threats or attacks by a police officer not below the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police/Assistant Commissioner of Police to be concluded within 90 days and we also use RTI and get its benefit.

Intellectual property rights

Many civil society members have recently alleged the subversion of the right to information Act by the invocation of Intellectual Property rights argument by the government agencies from time to time.

Most notable are:

- The Right to Information denied by RBI on Demonetization citing Intellectual Property Laws.
- The Right to Information Denied by Uttar Pradesh Irrigation Department after more than 8 months of a wait on under construction Gomti Riverfront Development Project. A group of researchers requested for environment Impact and Project Report on the project which is flagged for negative impacts, tax money wastage by environmental scientists and research reports.

Rejection of RTIs

Scholars argue that the Right to Information Act's original intent to make government transparent and accountable is faltering as RTI requests are rejected and the bureaucratic systems are bogged down by millions of requests.

Many RTIs are rejected because the bureaucratic requirements (including the technocratic language used) of filing are too onerous and legalistic for ordinary citizens. Sixty percent of the RTI appeals made to Information Commissioners in Delhi are rejected for a variety of reasons, including that appeals are not typed or not written in English, or lack an index of the papers attached or a list of date. This bureaucratic barrier, worse for those without access to higher education or information, makes the right to information inaccessible. Many citizens have to seek out NGOs, RTI activists, or lawyers, to file their RTIs.

Benefits

Many activists view the Right to Information Act as a final liberation from British colonialism; they describe the RTI law as "a tool for empowering ordinary citizens and changing the culture of governance by making it transparent, less corrupt, participatory, and accountable". They also note that RTI requests provide strategy and substance for activists on a broad range of social issues, including "land and environmental rights, social security benefits, the working of financial institutions, political party financing reform, civic infrastructure, and even public-private partnerships".

Exempted organisations

As per section 24 of the Act, intelligence and security organisations, both central and state, are exempted from the RTI Act except in cases of corruption or human rights violation. Such central organisations are listed in schedule 2 of the Act. The schedule has been amended four times, in September 2005, March 2008, October 2008 and May 2021.

1. Intelligence Bureau
2. Research and Analysis Wing including its technical wing, Aviation Research Centre
3. Directorate of Revenue Intelligence

PART-C

RECOMMENDATIONS AND CONCLUSIONS.

Right to Information Act, 2005 is interrelated, indivisible, and universal. No discrimination should be made on the grounds of caste, colour, creed or gender. Implantation of human rights makes it possible for communities to exist in peace and harmony.

Community development is important because it provides the foundation a city builds off of to improve the lives of its citizens. It creates strong, diverse communities that are able to attract and keep talent, start and grow businesses, and overcome issues that arise.

Engaging in community service provides students with the opportunity to become active members of their community and has a lasting, positive impact on society at large. Community service or volunteerism enables students to acquire life skills and knowledge, as well as provide a service to those who need it most.
